After visiting wineries throughout the United States and Canada, and as home wine makers for many years, Michele and Paul Crecca believed a shop where wine lovers could make their own wine would have great appeal, and hence Your Own Winery was opened in Riverdale, NJ (Morris County - very close to Passaic, Essex and Bergen Counties) in February 2013.

Today, they help hobbyists and wine lovers personally hand-craft and bottle more than 100 varietals of wine, including cabernets, pinot noirs, chardonnays, and pinot grigios. Over 50 wines are available for free tasting to help wine-makers decide which wine to make. As wine-making at Your Own Winery starts with wine juice and not grapes, the wine-making process takes just 6 - 8 weeks from primary fermentation to bottling. Each batch yields 28 bottles, and Michele helps customers create a custom bottle label using a favorite photo, resulting in truly personal vintage which they will be proud to share with family and friends, as well as give away as special gifts.
